foreword

today we come to a great crossroads in our lives. Our future lies before us in a wide path of hope and opportunity. Tomorrow is a broad avenue to success for those who accept its challenge.

Yet, it is not an awesome threat we face in the future, for our education has prepared us to enrich our lives and face life's problems. Tomorrow, a wealth of knowledge will be our constant companion. Human experience will be our able assistant.

We will build tomorrow from the lessons of today — a noble heritage. It will be a glorious enterprise to follow the aims and goals our leaders have set for us. Yesterday, today, and tomorrow equal our destiny.

"Our todays and yesterdays are the blocks with which we build."

dedication

O the moulders of our youth, to the directors of destiny — to the faculty of John Marshall High School we dedicate this book.

Honestly have they led us in the pathways of truth and knowledge. Clearly have they imparted the wisdom obtained from years of experience. Great has been their toil. Small has been their material reward.

Yet, we will always remember their work. Their influence will affect the future. To our teachers we humbly dedicate this 1958 John Quill.

ELMER W. SNYDER
Principal

Education today is recognized as an essential safeguard to our democratic way of life. While we cherish the rights of the individual, we must remember that for every right guaranteed to us there is a corresponding responsibility.

In your world of today the underlying foundation upon which you can build success is an undying faith in the moral and spiritual ideals of America.

Success both for the individual and for the community in which he lives depends upon an ability to understand oneself, to get along with people, to be economically independent, and to assume civic responsibility.

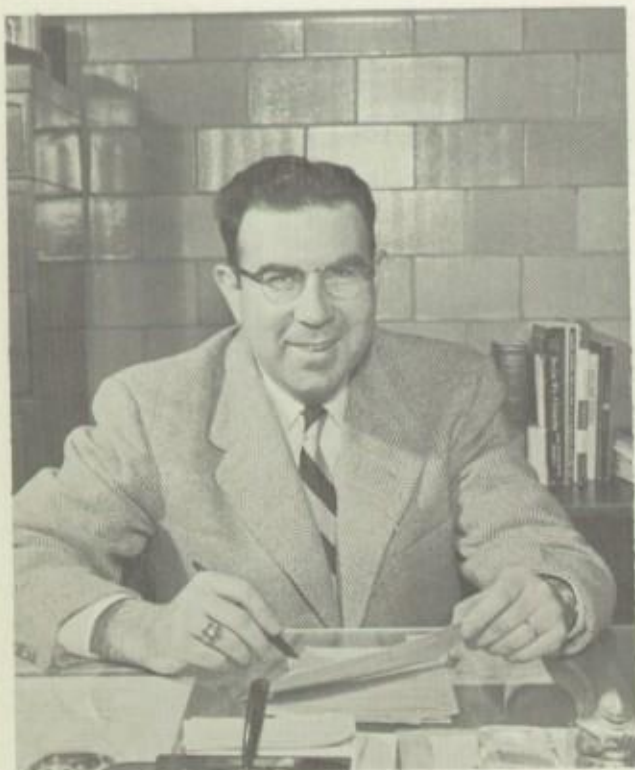

You have been prepared to understand the significance of these guides of living, to accept them and to make them part of your developing personality.

In your world of tomorrow, living according to these percepts should bring many, many satisfactions.

Social Studies

Living in a democracy in today's world demands a knowledge of our heritage and an appreciation of the duties, responsibilities, and obligations as well as the rights of democratic citizenship. To achieve this goal of active and effective citizenship the department draws upon the resources of history, economics, government, geography, and sociology.

English

Today the interest in television and drama has made everyone aware of the importance of English, both as a skill to be used in listening, speaking, and writing, and for the understanding of people through the great literature of today and yesterday.

In this department too, the classic grammatical skills are taught and pupils learn to think and organize their thoughts through the preparation of compositions, outlines, and oral reports.

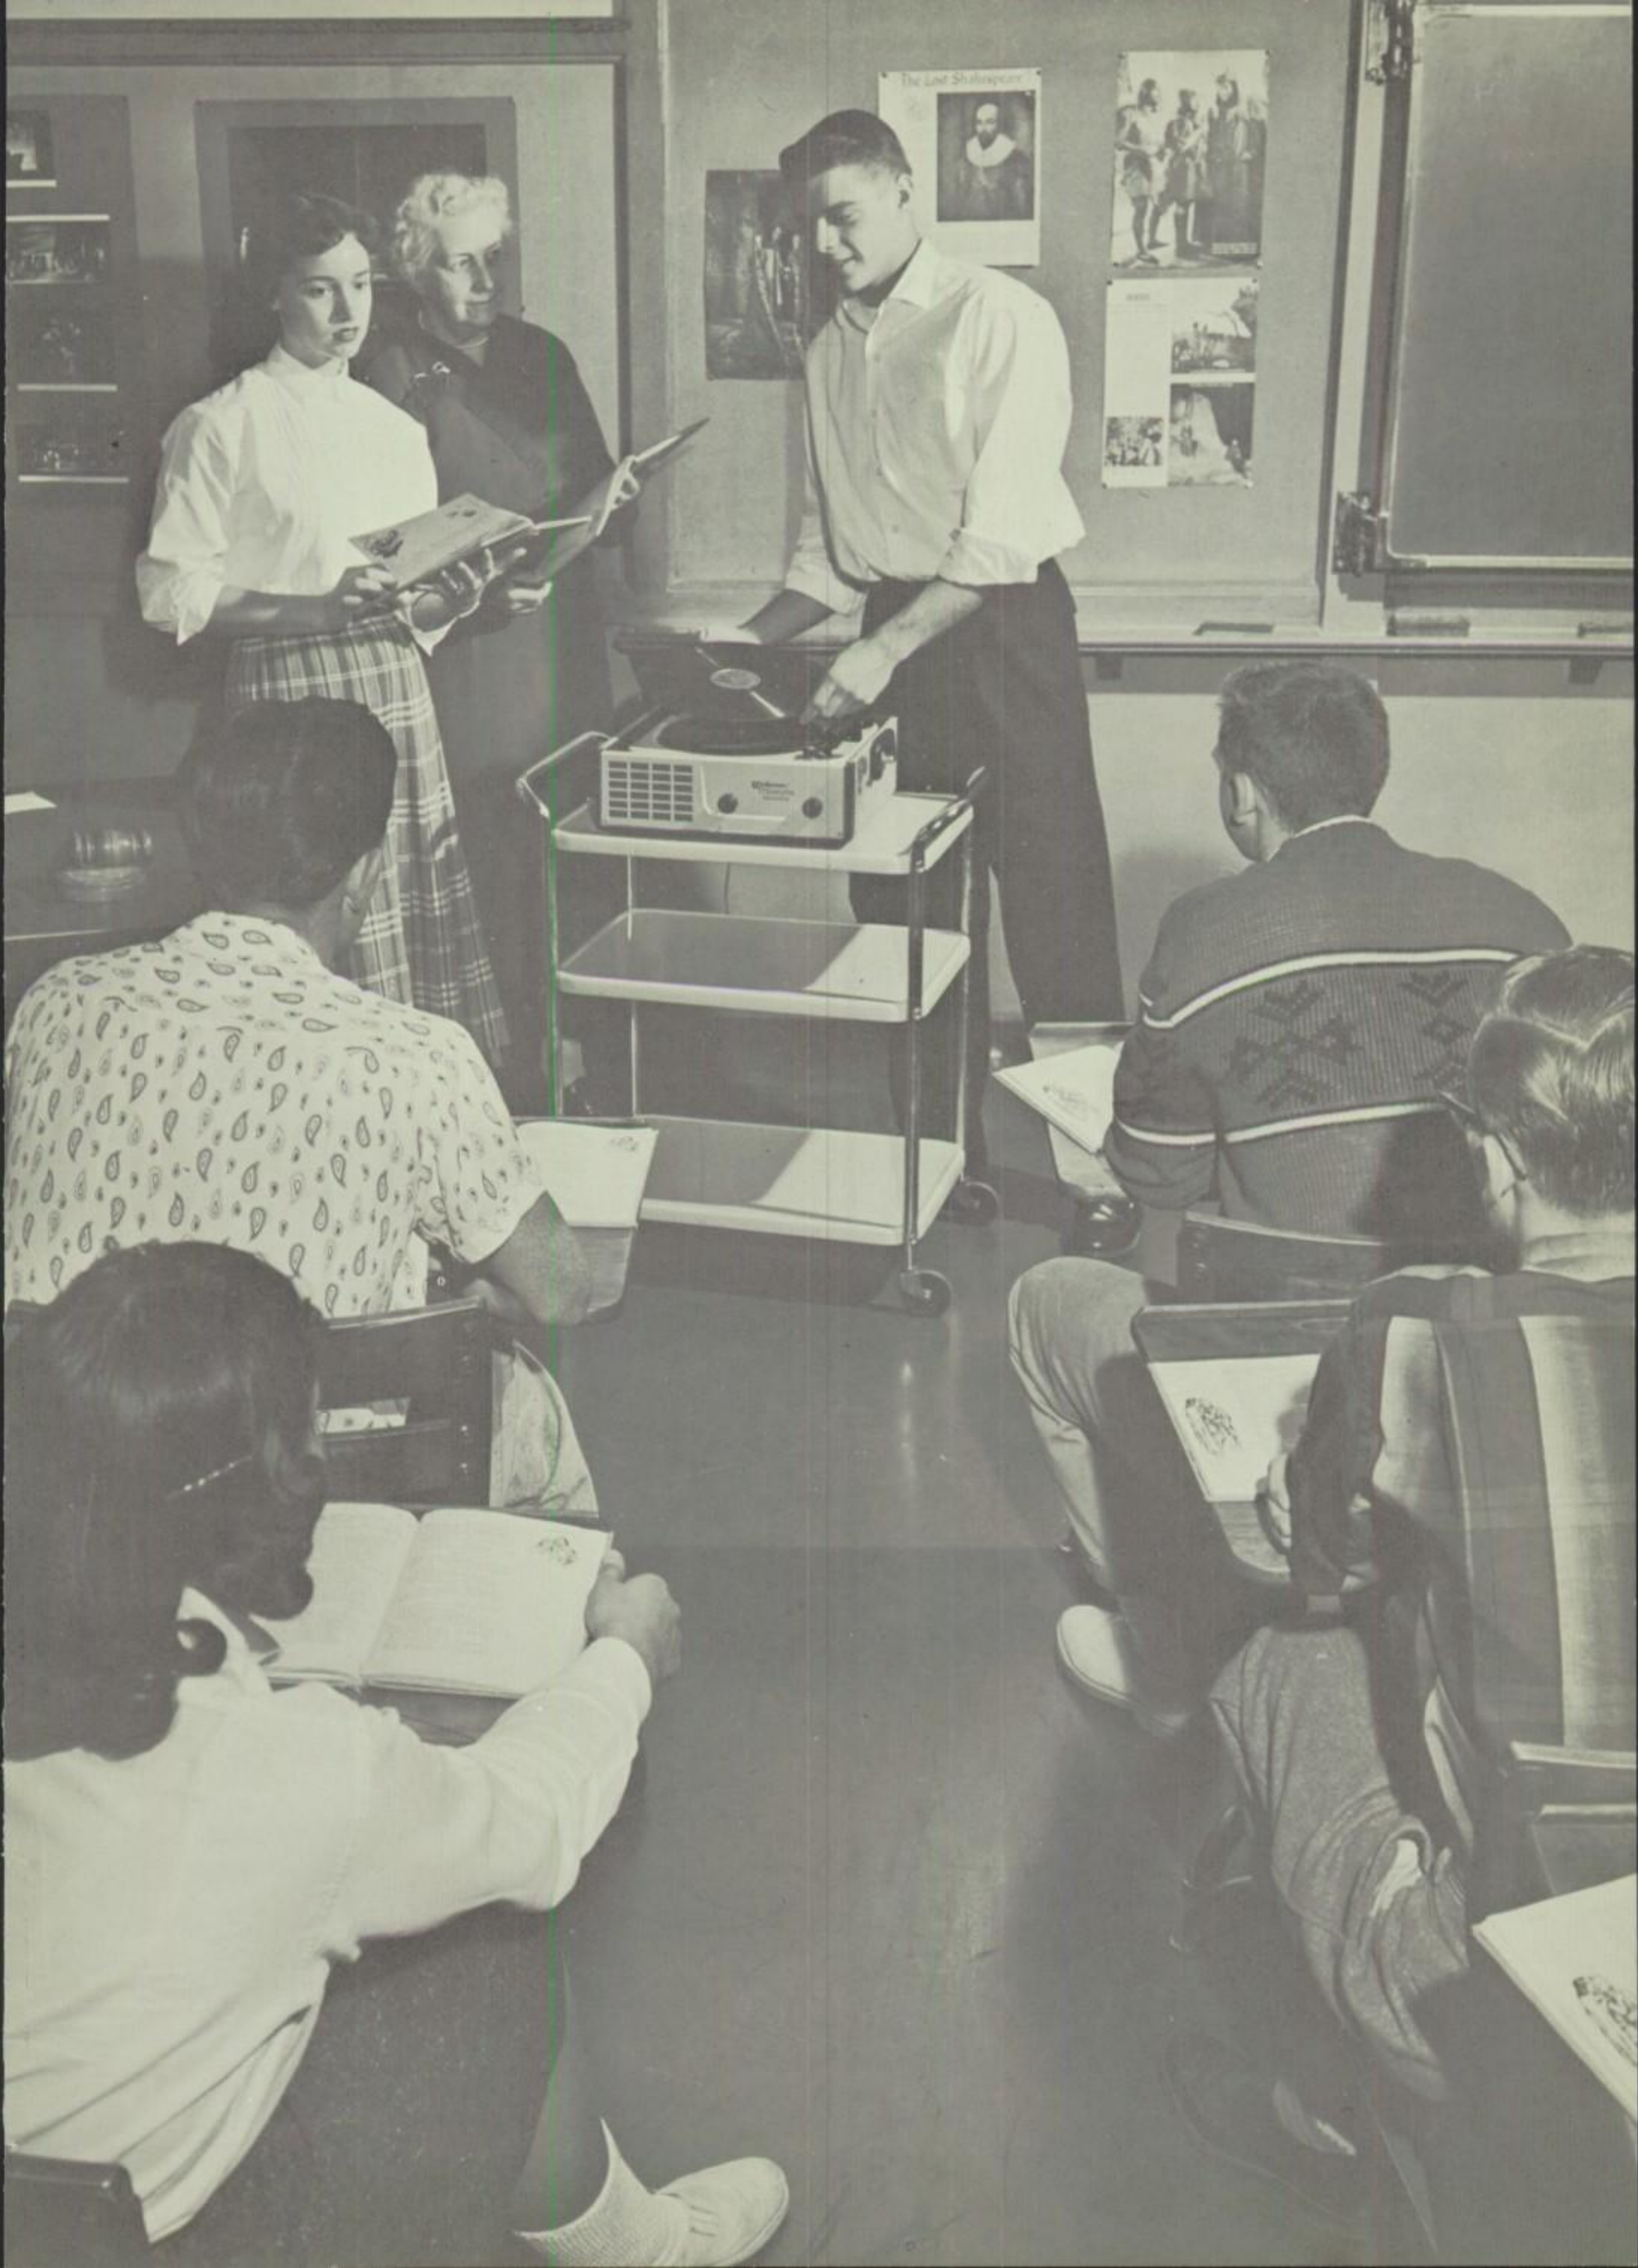

Standing: Ethel M. Dunn, David R. Wood, Earl Lammel. Seated: Charney Berger, Anna H. Brown, JoAnn Averill, Mary M. Murphy, Lulu E. Bartholomew, Mary C. Foley, Jane M. Jones, Arlene W. Earl, Grace M. Leader, Katherine Saunders. Insert: Nellie E. Bitz.

English
Classroom

Language

This past year in the language classes, special emphasis was placed on communication. Students were urged to take part in discussions in order to develop ease in expression.

Another phase of classwork centered around learning about foreign customs and modes of living, for a better understanding of the world we live in.

More than 500 pupils were enrolled in the Business Department this year. The students learned business fundamentals in such courses as typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, business law, and office practice. Equipment such as dictaphones, calculating machines, and duplicating machines were used to acquaint the students with devices found in an actual office. Automation and how it affects the Business Education Department was also studied.

Standing: Barbara Foos, Raymond W. Wright, Agnes Herrick, Helen M. Lathrop, Laura H. Colahan, Clayton M. DeLong. Seated: David B. Brady.

Business

Mathematics

Borden C. Booth, Edith B. Olmstead, Charles W. Pflaum, Monroe I. Lord, Jean Pennoyer, Thomas Byrnes, Paul T. Epping. Missing: Joseph H. Conroy.

The Mathematics Department, under the direction of Mr. Pflaum, sought to teach the students not only the subject matter, but to develop in the students an individual thought process for clearer and more self-reliant reasoning.

The courses offered included eighth and ninth grade math, plane and solid geometry, elementary, intermediate, and advanced algebra, trigonometry, and a new course, 11th grade mathematics, which combined intermediate algebra and trigonometry.

The national need for scientists and engineers was stressed in the Science Department this year under the direction of Mr. Houseman. Teachers encouraged students with outstanding abilities in these fields to enter them. In an attempt to create more interest, special after school programs were given, and trips were made to industries in our community to see the scientist in action.

Standing: Dorothy H. Corbett, John E. Dailor, Carleton Thayer, Daniel Keohane, Jean Havill, Sebastian A. Gangi. Seated: Virginia S. Scully, Daniel Houseman, Grace R. O'Reilley. Insert: Charles H. Loth.

Science

Practical Arts

The Practical Arts Department included classes in woodworking, metals, home economics, artcraft, and drafting. The shops introduced the students to the various machines and materials used in manufacturing and thus preparing graduates for future work in industrial arts. A new teaching technique was used this year, placing the students in classes according to their ability.

The home economics classes, including cooking and sewing, were designed to prepare the student for homemaking.

Physical Education

Standing: William Bushnell, Donna Reed, Kenneth R. Davis, Anthony L. Gerace, Nicholas Zona. Seated: Barbara Rosenbloom, Mary M. O'Connor, Janet Frank, Armand S. Bolton.

In the gym, swimming, and hygiene classes the Health and Physical Education Department covered a wide area of subjects this year. The gym classes afforded an opportunity to improve skills in sports and swimming. Special lifesaving classes were offered to swimmers, and American Red Cross swimming tests were given in each class. In the hygiene classes, general health, social hygiene, safety, and first aid were the main areas covered.

New materials and techniques were concentrated by the Art Department this year to enable each student to express himself through a variety of medias. The addition of a new kiln made possible the firing of many clay and enamel projects.

The Marshall Singers, a select group of vocally talented students, sang for the Christmas Assembly. Their attention was turned to the 13th and 14th Century music.

Marshall's wind instrument ensemble played at the Eastman Theater for the State Music Teachers' Conference in addition to several assembly programs at Marshall.

Fine Arts

Seated: Louise O'Brien, Ruth Schlenker. Standing: Roy S. Thrall, George W. Corwin, William Decker. Missing: Laura W. Remington.

Gail Bush, Secretary.

Executive Council

The John Marshall Executive Council consisted of the Student Association officers, the elected grade representatives, various commissioners of school activities, and the representatives of the faculty — Mrs. Barry and Mr. Hoffman. Acting as the ruling branch of the student government, the general functions of this council were to give final approval or disapproval to all measures passed by the Legislature and to introduce all legislation that benefited the school.

Seated: L. Gross, C. Calhoun, G. Bush, P. Heberger, R. Higham, A. Jardine, Mrs. Barry.
Standing: J. Myers, R. Zimmerman, K. Jermyn, E. Mambretti, D. Flagg, J. Serveone, H. Rooksby, J. Hayward, R. Usborne, J. Thorpe.

Practical Lessons

Row One: L. Tinelli, C. Finucane, B. Fordyce, B. Root, J. Biehler, R. Stillman, C. Bayne. Row Two: J. Roesser, R. Guglielmino, D. Abell, N. Weld, J. Briggs, E. Liebert, Mr. Hoffman, C. Pardee, N. Wharmby, C. Malthaner, R. Zimmerman, R. Ewing. Row Three: A. DuCharme, L. Gross, P. Henry, R. Bennett, G. Lejnicks, B. Smith, R. Usborne, P. Smith, W. Lambert, R. Maier, R. Higham, M. Speziale.

OFFICERS
M. Speziale, B. Fordyce, W. Lambert.

National Honor Society

1958 spelled new heights of progress for the John Marshall Chapter of the National Honor Society. Under its new adviser, Mr. Hoffman, and elected officers, Michael Speziale, William Lambert, and Betsey Fordyce, the group undertook a number of important school projects including a seventh grade counselor's aid program and a new senior incentive and study plan.

Seniors

Seated: B. Lambert, M. Johnson, J. Hayward, W. Haeferle, R. Case, R. Ernest. Standing: D. Hamill, B. Smith, W. Hahl, B. LaFave.

The Legislature

Composed of representatives from every homeroom, the 1957-58 Legislature served as the voice of the students in John Marshall's representative government.

Presided over by Charles Calhoun, Vice President of the S.A. and with the minutes and attendance records kept by Gail Bush, Secretary of the S.A., the Legislature was responsible for the success of the Red Cross Drive, the Memorial Scholarship Drive, the John Quill Sales Campaign, and the sale of football and basketball tickets in the homerooms. Miss Turula and Mr. Goetz, the school's guidance counselors, served as advisers to the Legislature.

Juniors

Seated: J. Thorne, D. Clark, S. Griffin, P. Soscia. Standing: D. Misel, S. Martin, M. Newman, A. Jardine, P. Morton, D. Mitchell, C. O'Hare, R. Frattle, K. Salligan, A. Williams.

Scholarship Commission

B. Fordyce, R. Usborne, R. Stillman, A. DuCharme, J. Biehler, B. Lambert, M. Speziale.

The Scholarship Commission, composed of the seven highest ranking seniors, sought to maintain a high level of scholarship throughout the school. With Roger Usborne as chairman, the commission informed the senior class of available college scholarships and investigated a possible revision of the requirements for standard bearer and guardian of the flag selections.

The Treasury Department, headed by Mrs. Laura Colahan, kept the financial records of the school. Those who assisted Mrs. Colahan were — Phyllis Heberger, Student Association Treasurer, who handled daily deposits; Judy Bartlett and Janet Myers, student bookkeepers, who kept the records of deposits and posting; Geoffrey Bleau and Richard Hill, student messengers; and Barbara Bar and Kathy Wilson, student typists.

A. DuCharme, J. Briggs

Community Service

The year 1958 saw Marshall's community service program expand to include permanent student representation on the Rochester Junior Safety Council. Appointed as delegates were seniors Arthur DuCharme and Jean Briggs and junior David Mitchell; all of whom worked toward the promotion of safety among teen-agers.

In the field of humanitarian service, nine students from all grade levels represented Marshall on the Junior Red Cross Inter-High Council. These students formed the nucleus of Junior Red Cross activities at Marshall, which were highlighted by the enrollment and fund raising campaign held in early March.

As Marshall delegates to the Rochester Association of the United Nations, William Lambert and Elizabeth Tyler strove to bring the United Nations story closer to the student body.

Service Corps

The Service Corps this year had an efficient staff of twenty-five juniors and seniors. Under the direction of Mr. Vetter, the duties of the corps included patrolling the halls and doorways, maintaining order and neatness in the cafeteria, and managing traffic within the school.

Traffic Squad

Directing student traffic outside the school, patrolling the parking lot, and giving the all-clear signal after each fire and air raid drill were the duties of the Traffic Squad, under the direction of Mr. Gerace. The squad was organized in pairs and was led by Norman Weld, captain, and Roger Wilmier, lieutenant.

Dramatics

The Dramatics Department, under the direction of Mrs. Anna Brown, was introduced to many new projects this year. These included student directing, analyzing modern plays, and working with make-up. For the enjoyment and interest of the student body the drama students performed many successful productions in assemblies.

Stage Crew

B. Steinfeldt, N. Exley, D. Abell, C. Calhoun, P. Geschwind, M. Smith.

Radio Workshop

The Radio Workshop, held in the Memorial Studio, was directed entirely by the students of the radio class. Under the guidance of Mrs. Saunders, the members of the workshop not only publicised school events, but also produced many special programs for the enjoyment of the entire school.

Senior Choir

Working, learning, enjoying—these words aptly summarize the efforts and aims of the John Marshall Senior Choir this year. After a slow start in the fall, during which much time was spent in developing vocal fundamentals and good musicianship, the group, directed by Mr. George Corwin, progressed steadily, presenting performances at Christmas and Easter. Highlighting the spring season was the choir's competition in the New York State School Music Association festival held at Ithaca during mid May.

First Row: Mr. Corwin, C. Baker, C. Bilby, B. Vivian, B. Turner, M. Caton, P. Sharpe, M. Bircher, S. Weldon, J. Simone, M. Simone, C. Lammes, U. Kalamasaff, L. Bertie, S. Papegaay, M. Johnson, K. Junior Choir

The John Marshall Junior Choir, composed of ninety-four members from the eighth and ninth grades, learned basic music fundamentals and vocal patterns. The highlight of the group's experience was a spring concert at which Mr. Corwin directed them in such songs as "Beautiful Savior", "The Yellow Rose of Texas", and "Finlandia".

Wind Ensemble

Bands and Orchestra

"A Workout"

The school year 1957-'58 brought many changes to the instrumental department of John Marshall High School, under the direction of Mr. Roy Thrall. The most significant change was the establishment of a new organization, the Wind Ensemble. This group was composed of forty-eight of the most select musicians and because of its small size, was able to play a more difficult and varied selection of music. The Wind Ensemble was the only group in Rochester to be selected to play for the annual New York State School Music Association Convention in the Eastman Theater on December sixth.

The other organizations under the instrumental department were the Red Band, formerly called the Junior Band; the Blue Band, formerly called the Senior Band; the Junior Orchestra; and the Senior Orchestra. Each group elected its own officers and student conductor and participated in the New York Music Association festival held at Ithaca during mid May.

Library Aides

This year's trained group of "Hooty's Helpers," under Miss Hilfiker's direction, performed many duties in John Marshall's ever-expanding library. Among these were shelving, cataloging, mending, and charging books and magazines. Various group field trips supplemented the training.

Student Secretaries

Among the multi-fold duties of the student secretaries was valuable assistance in the main office. Comprised of over twenty-five students, the group also lent a helping hand as messengers and typists under the auspices of the counselors and department heads.

Standing: S. Wangman, K. Rowley, S. Gibaut, J. Myers, J. Bartlett, G. Hipp, C. Beane, L. Lurz, D. Simpson, K. Brown, D. Reinagel, M. Hicks, G. Gaylord, J. Heller, C. O'Brien, M. Matteson, R. Beta Hi-Y

Forming the backbone of the Beta Hi-Y Club this year were a host of new sophomore and junior members. Their enthusiasm, coupled with the experience of the senior members, resulted in a broad program of successful service projects, recreational activities, and athletic events. Mr. Wood, the club adviser, and elected officers Mike Speziale, Steve Hluchan, Bob Maier, and Tony Alaimo provided leadership and initiative.

Sitting: Mr. Wood, M. Speziale, S. Hluchan, R. Marks, R. Maier.
Standing: M. Smith, W. Lambert, J. Thorne, A. DuCharme, F. Hoyt, P. Geschwind, W. Stegeman, A. Alaimo.

Future Teachers of America

The Elmer W. Snyder Chapter of the Future Teachers of America continued its important role in an effort to meet the new national demands for broadened education training. Again under the able guidance of Miss Hilfiker, the club elected officers Ellen O'Connell, Mary Lou Bolger, Linda Tinelli, Gary Buehler, and Suzanne Bucholtz. Cadet teaching in area grade schools provided valuable training for senior members.

The Marshall Docket this year headlined seven issues, covering all activities and events of interest to the faculty and the student body. Responsible for the supervision of the publication were Mr. Lammel, faculty adviser, Bonnie Root, editor-in-chief, and the page editors. Just as important, however, were the several students engaged as reporters, columnists, and typists.

Majorettes

Serving as captain for the third successive year, Kathy Jermyn and the varsity majorettes worked out several striking routines with the baton. These clever girls led the Marshall delegation in the Memorial Day Parade once again this year. The group practiced regularly on Wednesday afternoons. Gail McLean worked with Kathy as co-captain. The junior varsity squad was headed by Joanne Conocchioli.

Water Ballet

Under the direction of Miss Reed, the water ballet team, made up of some of Marshall's better girl swimmers, practiced every Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. The girls learned precision timing and gracefulness in the water. Besides forming patterns while swimming, they swam in time with music.

The Jurist swimming team splashed its way to the Interscholastic League Championship by stacking up eight consecutive victories in league meets this year. While piling up points at the meets the boys broke pool records at Marshall, Jefferson, and Edison.

Under the capable guidance of Coach Gerace, assisted by co-captains Roger Wilmier and Mike McRae, the team led the league in victories. Consistent winners were Dan Hamill, Bill Naramore, Tom Brown, Jim Brown, Bill Stegeman, Chuck Calhoun, and John Ritchie.

Highlight of the season was the first meet in which the finmen broke arch rival Charlotte's two year winning streak.

THE WILL TO WIN (D & C photo)
B. Nesbitt

Again this year Coach Gerace came up with an excellent team, with seven wins and one loss in Interscholastic League play.

After winding up in second place the powerful Jurists went on into Sectional play. They beat Brockport and West High, but lost to a superior Edison team.

The team was sparked by a keen sense of competition, good humor, and an overwhelming will to win. Larry Heffer and co-captains, Bill Nesbitt and Norm Weld, were selected to the All-Scholastic first team, Ted Kelsey to the second team, and Lenny Gross, Andy Nazzaro, and Bob Higham received Honorable Mention.

The 1957 football team started off the season in outstanding form by trouncing Edison and Franklin, two good teams. These performances won the team much acclaim and praise by sportswriters, coaches, and opponents.

Excellent coaching, as shown by the opening games, was provided by Mr. Davis, who was assisted by Coaches Heinrich and Greibus.

After being hard hit by flu and loss of key men, the team had a tough time throughout the remaining part of the season.

Marshall boys honored by the city papers were: Don Casperson, All-Scholastic First Team and Gary Clemmons, Don DellaVella, Russ Guglielmino, and Jack Hayward, Honorable Mention.

Last winter's wrestling team finished the sea-son with five wins and three losses. The top winners, coached by Mr. Davis, were the 1957 Sectional Champs Bob Alman and Ben Miles. Benny also won the award for the 1956-57 sea-son's outstanding city wrestler. Two other constant winners were Dick Ernest and Dick McKercher.

The 1957 track team, coached by Mr. Davis, com-pleted the season with a record of four wins and four losses.

Outstanding team members were Dave Heiligman, Jim Brown, Dick Colt, Pete Crellin, Art DuCharme, and Andy Nazzaro. John Armendinger, Bob Cairns, Jim Brown, and John Thorpe took second place in the mile relay at an American Legion Invitational Track Meet late last season.

John Marshall's 1957-58 basketball team began the year with a string of eight consecutive wins. The boys ran up a 7-1 record in the first half of the Interscholastic League season; the second half record was five wins and three losses.

The big game of the season was the 55-54 win over previously undefeated Franklin. Because of this game Marshall finished the year in second place in the league standings, and earned a Sectional berth.

Last spring the Marshall Baseball team came through in great form with a seven to one record in Interscholastic League play.

Led by Coach Bushnell and the masterful curves of All-Scholastic pitcher Ron Spring and hitting of All-Scholastic Harry Doty the team went on into the Sectionals.

At Victor, against Geneva, one big Geneva inning proved too much for the Jurist diamond men, who lost a heartbreaker, two to one.

Last fall the cross country team, under the coaching of Mr. Wright, finished the season with four wins and four losses to take fourth place in the city standings.

The harriers went on to finish an outstanding third place tie in a field of twenty-three teams at the Section V meet at Geneva.

The John Marshall tennis team posted a record of two wins, two losses, and one tie in the 1957 spring season for fifth place in Interscholastic League play.

Under the guidance of their coach, Mr. Wright, Jim Rhodes, Bill Currie, and Walt Ludeke played singles, and Mike Cronmiller and Frank Richens played doubles.

In the city doubles championship tournament, Bill Currie and Jim Rhodes fought their way into the finals.

Golf

Last year's golf team, coached by Mr. Zona, drove and putted its way to third place in the Interscholastic Golf League with four wins, one tie, and two losses.

The team was led by captain Reggie Henderson, backed up by Jim Pelham, Gary Statucki, and Al Hetzke. Top underclassmen prospects are Bill Stegeman and Roger Wade.

Gymnastics

The gymnastic team practicing under the direction of Mr. Eugene Kolocki was a familiar sight in the halls of Marshall. The main event of the season for the team was the championship meet of Section V. During the winter, the gymnastic team put on a demonstration for the students at one of the assemblies.
